

Upcoming ClarkArts Events

Through January 19, 2007

Reverberation

Tim Murdoch and Jon Petro both create art that derives from an intuitive and overtly physical process. Eschewing conscious references, these works nevertheless suggest fundamental patterns and natural phenomena. Each artist uses an energetic and exuberant vocabulary of forms, while working in different media – Murdoch in three-dimensional form and Petro with paint on canvas.

The Clark University Concert Band is in its eighth year of existence. In 1998, the band was started by students with a professional director. The band is currently under the direction of Richard Cain. The band is funded in part by the Clark University Chamber Ensembles, a student run organization.

Richard Cain, director, brings to this position his many years of experience. After receiving a Bachelor of Music degree from St. Michael's College, Mr. Cain pursued graduate studies in Education at Berklee College of Music, Tufts University, and University of Massachusetts-Lowell, and others. Mr. Cain's principle instruments are the French Horn and String Bass, and he performs with a number of local orchestras and jazz groups. Currently, he is the Music and Band Director for the Tahanto Regional High School, Boylston, MA.
