

International Development

The International Development and Social Change major is offered through the Department of International Development, Community and Environment. IDCE stresses an interdisciplinary approach linking geography, anthropology, the environmental sciences, economics, government and history. The international development and social change major allows students to develop a foundation for understanding and thinking critically about the social, political, economic and cultural dynamics that shape the world. Students explore strategic political action by developing an awareness of the complexities and contradictions of global power relations.

Related Careers:

Nonprofit / NGOs	Project Manager, Coordinator, Researcher, Planner
Government	Intelligence, Foreign Service, Environmental Policy
Business	Environmental Risk Analyst, Health Risk Analyst, Resource Manager, Computer Modeling

Where do Clark International Development Studies majors intern?

- Intern, UNICEF, San Salvador, El Salvador
- Global Outreach & Haiti Partnership Intern, Seven Hills Foundation Global Outreach, Worcester, MA
- Probation Intern, Mass Trial Court Probation, Fitchburg
- Intern, GIZ-Deutsche Gesellschaft für Internationale Zusammenarbeit, Tirana, Albania
- Legal Intern, The Human Rights Initiative of North Texas, Dallas, TX
- Intern, Habitat for Humanity Metro West/Greater Worcester, Worcester, MA
- Intern, Worcester Youth Center, Worcester, MA
- Ecovillage Development Intern, Suderbyn Cooperative Society, Sweden
- Mentor Program Intern, African Community Education Program, Worcester, MA

Where do Clark International Development majors attend graduate school?

- Ed.M, Education Policy and Management, Harvard University
- Master's in Public Policy, State University of New York at Stony Brook
- M.P.A., American University
- M.A., City and Regional Planning, UC, Berkeley
- M.A., Local Economic Devt., London School of Economics & Political Science
- M.S., Library and Information Science, Simmons University
- Ph.D., Clinical Psychology, University of Illinois at Chicago
- M.S., Finance, Boston University
- M.A. (IDCE), Clark University, 5th year

What do Clark International Development majors do?

- Program Assistant, Union of Concerned Scientists
- Project Manager, Handicap International France
- Research Assistant, UN Food and Agriculture Security Analysis Unit
- Legal and Political Affairs Officer, United Nations
- Education Team Leader, US Agency for International Development (USAID)
- GIS/Development Specialist, Development Alternatives, Inc.
- Travel Seminar and Internship Coordinator, Augsburg College
- Training Associate, Health Resources in Action
- Youth Mentor, Regional Environmental Council
- Case Manager / Program Assistant, Central MA Housing Alliance

Links for Further Research:

Directory of Development Organizations	http://www.devdir.org/
Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development	http://www.oecd.org/home
Dev-Zone Development Work Database	http://www.dev-zone.org/jobs
The Riley Guide: international agencies and NGOs	http://www.rileyguide.com/internat.html#orgs
Third World Conference	http://www.twcfinternational.org/
Citizen Network for Foreign Affairs	http://www.cnfa.org/
The Development Executive Group	http://www.devex.com/en/
Novartis Foundation for Sustainable Development	http://www.novartisfoundation.org