

Clark to Reopen for Spring 2021 Semester

Clark has officially announced that students will be welcomed back to campus for in-person instruction for the spring 2021 semester. The health protocols implemented during the fall 2020 semester will remain in place throughout the 2020-2021 academic year.

The decision to open was made with the approval of the Board of Trustees, President David Fithian said, and follows months of analysis of university operations, consultations with public health experts, and countless planning sessions involving teams of staff and faculty. “Reopening absolutely would not be possible without the incredible Clarkie spirit that has been on display throughout the fall semester,” he said. “We know that it has not been easy.”

The Clark experience is an irreplaceable one that has helped forge successful paths for so many of our alumni. Despite the current COVID-19 pandemic, we are deeply dedicated to ensuring our current students receive the same once-in-a-lifetime experience as those who came before them. But, we can't do it alone.
