If you receive a Harrington Fellowship, the expectation is that you will fulfill the terms of the internship and/or the proposed project. If you encounter difficulties that could impede your ability to complete the internship or project, it is your responsibility to reach out to your internship supervisor, your faculty sponsor, and/or one of your Fellowship recommenders at Clark, or to the Clark Political Science Department Chair, to try to find a solution.

In signing this, I accept that failure to complete the terms of the internship, or to complete the proposed project, may result in repayment of the Fellowship funds, and that falsification of the amount of work completed will be considered a possible violation of academic integrity that may result in sanctions by the College Board.
