

2019-2020 Members' Biographies

Michaëlle Aristide was born in Haiti and raised both in South Africa and Haiti, is an International Development and Social Change major with a specialization in Global Health. As the President of the Caribbean African Student Association as well as the Co-Director of the African Diaspora Dance Association, Michaëlle has and continues to enjoy sharing her culture with the Clark Community. Moreover, through her experiences as a mentee in the Academic Clark Excellence (ACE) Program then later becoming a two time mentor, she has been able to expand her leadership all the whilst helping and giving back to communities who have and continue to shape her into the person she is today.

Morufat Ayoola Bello, from Nigeria, is studying Political Science, with a concentration in International Relations. She works at the Academic Advising Center and the Political Science department (you can stop by and say hi). Morufat enjoys dancing because it's given her confidence and voice. She also enjoys traveling; it's the best way to learn about different cultures.

Skyler Duda is majoring in Biology, and is currently involved in student research with the Meyer Lab at Clark. She is looking forward to an Accelerated BA/Masters in continuing research on the neural induction of the marine worm Capitella teleta, and then plans to continue on to dental school. Outside of academics, she has worked on a LEEP Fellowship with the Boys and Girls Club of Worcester for their summer arts programming, as well as at Clark's Craft Studio Center. She was president and is now on the E-board for ClarkU JStreet, an organization that focuses on American support for ending the Israeli occupation.

Bryan Feliz was born in the Dominican Republic and moved to the city of Worcester nine years ago with his father to access better educational opportunities. He is pursuing a degree in Management with minors in both Economics and Innovation & Entrepreneurship. On campus, he has been heavily involved with the Latin American Student Organization as a former President, Vice-President and First-Year Representative. He has also been a member of ADDA, ISA, and Hip Hop Collabo. As both a

First-Generation and ALANA student, he was able to benefit from the Academic Clark Excellence (ACE) Program as a first-year and became a mentor for the program in his sophomore year. After completing his undergraduate career, he intends to further his studies in marketing.

Sheila Ford is a double major in Physics and Media, Culture and the Arts. She is also a Resident Advisor who is involved in Clark Musical Theatre, Quidditch, and the Maker Club. She greatly enjoys helping people and hopes to never forget the importance of laughter.

Ruth Fuller majors in sociology with a minor in Women's and Gender Studies. She is a passionate advocate for progressive criminal justice reform in the US and cares deeply about the rights of incarcerated and formerly-incarcerated individuals. Post-graduation she hopes to work for AmeriCorps and pursue a Master's in Social Work or a related field. In her free time she enjoys visiting bookstores, exploring Worcester, and listening to podcasts.

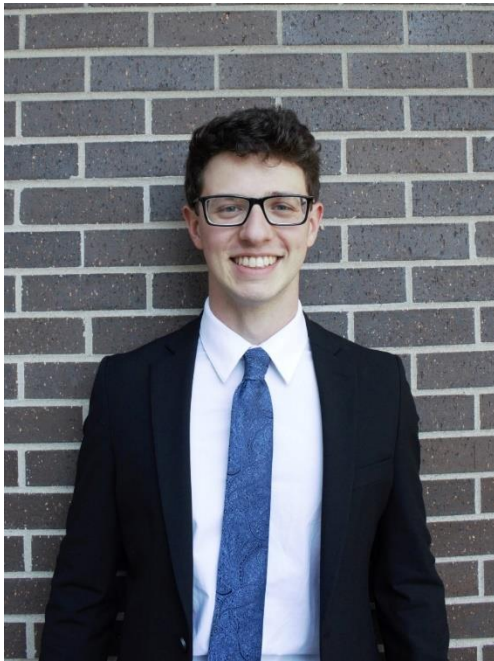

Katherine Hamilton majors in International Development with a minor in Spanish and concentration in Latin American Studies. She is co-Editor-in-Chief of The Scarlet and vice president of STAND, the student-led movement to end mass atrocities.

Emma Kirkman-Davis is a Chemistry and Math double major with a minor in Theater Arts. She is involved with Clark Climate Justice and researching magneto-structural correlations in Professor Turnbull's lab.

Alejandra Rosselli is majoring in physics with minors in mathematics and data science. She is also part of the Salsa Encendida Club and the Society of Physics Students. She is the secretary of Women in STEM, and the president of the Latin American Student Organization.

David Sullivan, from Amesbury, MA, is a Political Science major concentrating in American Government and is also pursuing minors in Marketing and Law and Society. He has served in a number of positions on the Clark Undergraduate Student Council, including Chairman of the Student Life Committee and most recently as Executive Board Treasurer. He also has been involved in Model United Nations and has traveled to eight conferences and organized two of Clark's high school student conferences. Currently he serves as the team's Co-President. Outside of Clark he has worked in Boston for his hometown State Representative and as a special projects intern for the Worcester

District Attorney's Office. Currently, he is taking courses for an accelerated Masters in Public Administration at Clark and may pursue a law degree in the future with an interest in environmental policy or governmental consulting.

Jake Sullivan majors in Psychology with a minor in Community, Youth, Education Studies, with a plan to pursue a PhD program in Community Psychology after Clark. He is currently conducting research for his honors thesis on how social media has played a role in LGBTQIA+ young adults' identity development. He has also been involved with AIDS Project Worcester as a Peer Leader for LGBTQIA+ youth groups, an Ambassador for the Admissions office, a Peer Adviser and Orientation Coordinator for Clark's Orientation, and with Youth Outreach Worcester as a Curriculum Developer.

Phyto Phyto Min Thu (Vivian) is a Biochemistry and Molecular Biology major with a Health, Science, and Society concentration and is on the Pre-Med track at Clark University. She was born in Yangon, Myanmar (Burma), and moved to the United States in 2010. She is part of Dr. Spratt's research lab currently working on determining the pKa of the HECT E3 ligase protein, ITCH. Phyto Phyto works at the Family Health Center of Worcester as a medical scribe and is continuing to pursue her passion in medicine through volunteering in community events and internships. Vivian has been involved in Hip Hop Collabo Group for four years, and was president for two. She enjoys spending her free time with friends, dancing with her dance team, and meditating.

Jordyn Zembrowski majors in history and sociology and is interested in pursuing education. Jordyn has been a dedicated member for four years on Clark University Rapid Response and works in the Worcester community as an EMT and for a fire department for a surrounding town. Jordyn is deeply engaged in public health initiatives on campus and in Worcester.