The Luxembourg Centre for Contemporary and Digital History (C²DH) is the University of Luxembourg’s third interdisciplinary research centre, focusing on high-quality research, analysis and public dissemination in the field of contemporary Luxembourgish and European history. It promotes an interdisciplinary approach with a particular focus on new digital methods and tools for historical research and teaching.

The C²DH is engaged in a vast variety of different research projects, at national and international level. A selection of completed, ongoing and future projects is displayed below.

1 August 2022 to 31 July 2023

TransARB aims to investigate the transnational transformation of the European steel industry during the last decades of the 20th century within the scope of the Luxembourgish ARBED company. It compares ARBED steel plants in Luxembourg and in Unterweltlinden in Thuringia in the former GDR and analyses both the changes in management strategies and...

LED BY:
Nicolas Arendt

1 June 2022 to 30 September 2023
BUREU: EU office buildings between architectural “hardware” and managerial “software”, 1950s–2000

BUREU aims to investigate how the interiors of EU office buildings (1950s–2000) affected the process of European integration on the level of everyday material and bureaucratic practices. Multidisciplinary in its approach, BUREU combines methods and insights from the fields of history, architecture and European integration studies. A...

LED BY:
Andreas Fickers

1 March 2022 to 31 December 2020
C²DH stands with Ukraine

A collection of activities led by the C²DH and its staff in support of the Ukrainian research community. This includes, for example, reports about fellowships, workshops and conferences on the documentation and study of the Russo-Ukrainian war as well as collaborations, networking and training initiatives to target Ukrainian research...